Charity defines Rosetta M. Ulman's life and legacy. She was generous during her lifetime (1859-1978) and continues to provide support to the community today.

Charity at Home

Rosetta M. Ulman's gift was significant not only for the quality of life her husband enjoyed, but for the quality of life enjoyed by others in the community. She left $35,000 to the Home for the Friendless, which was used to build a solarium on the south side of the building for the use of the elderly women residents, her brother Leonel and cousin Hanna Ulman Rosenbaum donated funds to build a schoolroom for children on the north side of the building.

Rosetta M. Ulman, Baptism, 1928

Her bequests totaling close to $260,000, were intended not only to meet the needs of the Home for the Friendless, but also to improve the quality of life for those in need.

Requests

When Rosetta died on Nov. 20, 1978, at the age of 86, the west wing of the Home for the Friendless was held at Temple Beth-Hashalom, and she is buried there, in the same family plot as her husband, Henry Ulman Mausoleum at Wildwood Cemetery.

Rosetta M. Ulman Memorial Shoreham, 1928

Her bequests totaling close to $260,000, were intended not only to meet the needs of the Home for the Friendless, but also to improve the quality of life for those in need.