

Oil Paintings

Lin Nazzaro

My conceptual work is a series of oil paintings based in the idea that many things are both finite and infinite at the same time. I express this visually by playing with intense scale relationships to highlight the visual similarities that already exist in the world, but aren't immediately apparent. This work ties into my spiritual beliefs, as these sequences and similarities are where I have found what I consider to be God. I believe that the universe has a consciousness, and that all things are connected. This connection is what I ultimately want to express in this body of work.
