Dear Lycoming College Students,

I apologize for a typo in my last message. The below, corrected version, is the new policy. You may have seen this announcement in the recent communication from President Trachte, but I want to repeat it to make sure that everyone is informed. The last week has seen large changes at Lycoming College. Many students are anxious about the switch to remote learning and the possibility for damaging impacts on their GPAs. As Provost of the College, I want to announce that Lycoming College is implementing a one-time change to grading that will provide a measure of insurance against such a possibility:

For spring semester 2020 only

* All grades earned from C and up will continue to be recorded as normal.
* All passing grades below C (which are C-, D+, D and D-) will be converted to Pass (P) on student transcripts, while grades of Fail (F) will continue to be F.
* P grades will not be used in GPA computations.
* Pass grades in spring 2020 can be used to fulfill all college requirements, including distribution, major, minor and prerequisite requirements.
* Students receiving a P will not be eligible for spring 2020 Dean’s List.

Students will all be placed into this system automatically, so you do not need to contact the registrar to sign up for it. In the meantime, stay calm and I am confident that the transition to remote learning will be a smooth one.

Very Sincerely,

Dr. Sprunger, Provost and Dean of the College
